

Luke Skywalker is a young adult raised by his aunt and uncle on Tatooine, who dreams of something more than his current life and learns about the Force and the Jedi. Eventually, he becomes a pilot in the Rebel Alliance and an apprentice Jedi. After training with Obi-Wan Kenobi and Yoda, he is one of the last living Jedi Knights.

Han Solo is a cynical smuggler and captain of the Millennium Falcon. He becomes a general in the rebellion, and Leia's love interest.

Leia Organa is the princess of the planet Alderaan who is a member of the Imperial Senate and, secretly, one of the leaders of the Rebel Alliance.

Grand Moff Tarkin is the Imperial commander of the Death Star.

Obi-Wan Kenobi, also known as Ben Kenobi or Old Ben, is an aging Jedi Master and veteran of the Clone Wars who introduces Luke to the Force.

C-3PO, or See Threepio, is a protocol droid affiliated with the Rebellion who is "fluent in over six million forms of communication".

R2-D2, or Artoo Detoo, is an astromech droid and C-3PO's companion, who is carrying the Death Star plans and a secret message for Obi-Wan from Princess Leia.

Chewbacca is a Wookiee, Han Solo's sidekick, and first mate of the Millennium Falcon.

Darth Vader is Obi-Wan's former Jedi apprentice, who fell to the dark side of the Force.

Lando Calrissian is the administrator of Cloud City, and an old friend and rival of Han Solo.

Yoda is a wise, centuries-old Jedi Master of an unknown diminutive alien species, who lives in exile on Dagobah and trained Luke.

The Emperor is the founder and supreme ruler of the Galactic Empire and Darth Vader's Sith master.